Ā, God's assemblies represent classical pentecostalism, which had not begun in Brazil in 1911, based on the experience of the spirit and their gifts. Today, these churches are added more than 15 million members and the doctrine on the Holy Spirit continues to be one of their most important bases. Brazil today, unlike 1911, is a pluralized country in its culture and religious manifestation. Faced with this context, the dialogue between religions is a fundamental imperative in Brazil. The Holy Spirit, promotes the unit, dialogue, conviction and friendship between different. It is the spirit that blows life and communion in different places. "For this reason, the Spirit can be a basis for the assembly, for a dialogue between the different religions. Thus, the research objectives to prove, depending on the Assemblies of God, the interreligious dialogue from the doctrine of the Holy Spirit. For this reason, we will look for pneumatology elements that contribute to rethinking the Pentecostal theology of God's assemblies in order to introduce in inter-religious dialogue. The following conclusions are clear: the Holy Spirit is present in every human being; Care with the environment, the search for justice and peace, are pneumatological aspects common to all Christians and relevant to different religious traditions. The Spirit promotes friendship and communion between human beings; in practice, the result is Harmonious cohabitation between people of different religious traditions. Thus, it is possible to complete the fancelit of pneumatology as a base for interreligious dialogue ne The Shareholders' Meetings of God. Lima, A. S.
