This app is amazing in my opinion, because you can email Igor, get an answer back quickly, and see changes within a week; I also use other iPhone mobile calculators with our Kestrel AB Elite like ABMobile, Shooter, BallisticsAE, Trassol, Bullet Flight, and several other mobile apps including the Kestrel Link app that comes with the Kestrel, however I find Strelok Pro to be more repeatable with the Kestrel's wind call Bluetooth integration. We are able to consistently get on target with various distances from 278 to 1015 yards with a 308, 6.5, 30-06 and 5.56. Again my best reasons is app support (being able to email Igor) and see a long list of additions/fixes/enhancements and new features added every year versus the competitors apps that get a few updates a year if lucky or if they have to, because it stops working when Apple changes something. Igor's app is priceless. Mô tá Strelok Pro [Paid] [SAP] 2390 reticles database! Reviews from users AJM pest control: This app is great so easy to use once you have inputted all the data. I've always just used holdover/under shooting with my leshy 2 but since I got the element scope I feel comfortable dialing my shots knowing it will return to zero. Is there any chance you can put elements rets on the app?Kyotey bear: MOA adjustments can give .1 increments, even though the scope adjustment is put in the app as 1/4 inch at 100 yards? It might have adjust 8.9 moa, but there is only 4 clicks to each moa, so why does the app not understand this?Dale Ridel: Data disappears. When you try to restore it runs one time then just closes with no data. Old version worked great.. developer should have left it aloneMason S: As a semi-competent shooter just getting into long range, I find the features here full of depth and very useful. All the inputs you would expect are there, with many someone like myself didn't even think were pertinent. Do your part and this will get you on paper at range, even as a newbie like me. If your reticle isn't listed, or you (like myself) want to future proof with further input capability and storage for rifles/loads, just get the pro version. Igor answers questions VERY quickly too.Louann Gazlay: I'm 64 years old and a little tech challenged. This app made it easy for me to navigate . I even put my scope in it. It shows what point of aim should look like through the reticle. Also like that it shows energy values. Might make it elk hunting one more time. Thank you so much. Scot.Trapper John: It was good until my data disappeared. I had multiple setups logged and tested. All of that customized data was erased and lost at some point. Stupidly, I did not keep backup records outside the app so will have to spend multiple range sessions to recreate everything. Will likely look for another app to do so.D Cook: This is an exceptional ballistics app. It's easy to setup, maintain/ edit and is dead-on accurate. If your inputs are correct, then Igor has you covered. I took a new Remington 700 in 6.5 Creedmoor, Sierra 130 SMK from zero to 1,349 yards in 31 rounds. A competitor app 4DOF (free version) may be popular and even sexier looking, but it's buggy and IMO, not intuitive to setup. Strelok may not be 'pretty', but it's an elegant app in its simplicity and ease of use. - and it works.A Google user: Update: Programmer responded with a quick "fix". I figured out how to back up data in case of another software issue! GTG. (Earlier: I really like the program but for the last four months, every few weeks or so all my cartridge data is erased-- meaning time consumed in gathering data is wasted. I remove the app and then download it again and re-enter all my data .and I haven't figured out the pattern of when the wipe will happen. I can't trust the app so I am removing it for the last time.)A Google user: still the best (free) ballistic calculator I've found to date. I've used Strelok for years without issue and am a pretty heavy reloader of my own ammo. Strelok provides great ballistic info, flight times and bullet drop data. I've never compared the listed data to a chrony but it's always worked in a pinch or when shooting. I recommend this app or even the pay version.A Google user: As a ballistics calculator this app is brilliant. Unfortunately all the time it's installed I'm getting full screen video adverts appearing on my phone, even when the app isn't running. Delete the app & they stop, reinstall the app they start again. I'm hoping the paid version doesn't have the same problem as I'm tempted to buy Strelok+ to work out aim points for my 2nd focal plane scopes. Strelok.
