Advantages of Nuclear

- may be more mobile, because of this people are able to look for better pay and conditions and as there are fewer children they may have an improved lifestyle
- this type of family maybe freer to follow their own wishes and make decisions without consulting other family members, so they can focus on their own lives and children
- financially and socially they can focus on their children as their priorities. This can mean children are given a great deal of encouragement and attention
- the family may well have more living space, although people can only live where they can afford to

Joint Family

- ▮ The family in India does not consist only of husband, wife and their children but also of uncles, aunts and cousins and grandsons.
- ▮ This system called Joint family or extended family system, is a peculiar characteristic of the Indian social life.
- ▮ A son after marriage does not usually separate himself from the parents but continues to stay with them under the same roof and holding property in common.
- ▮ The earnings of all the members are put in a common fund out of which family expenses are met.
- ▮ The family in India is based on Patrilineal descent.
