Rd.com Estimation Animals and Animals Dogspink of Your Puppy The evil tail means that he is happy to see you? It might be. Or maybe he's not just in you. Here it is like the schooner behaviorists decipher what the tail of a dog indicates. 1 / 10Lisa Nagorskaya / Shutterstockyou probably see this wag when you get home from work every night. Your puppy gets you with a tail with a big circle. You will also see you shaking all the body in a loose way, accompanied by a submissive smile or a soft open mouth. Å º Å º º "the most swinging and tremendous closer to the dog's head, the most friendly the dog is Å º Å º" observes Russ Hartstein, the CEO of the amusement of Paw, behavior and coach of the certified dog in Los Angeles. 2 / 10watunyu Wichakriengkai / ShutterStockQuando You see a quick, vigorous, almost agitated tail in a dog, take it as a suggestion of tensile oe / or hostility. The dog could pass in action at any time. Å º "This is a highly awakened dog and should usually be avoided until it installs Å º º "Hardstein beds. To find out if you are the source of this hostility, check out these things your dog wants you to know. 3 / 10tsik / Shutterstockyou can almost see you on your face: the puppy seems to be contemplating your next movement . A slow tail can indicate that a dog is unfriendly, then proceed with caution. Å º "Be sure to take the whole environment and the personality of the dog in consideration. If it were an unknown dog, do not interact, "Recommends Hartstein. 4 / 10tsik / ShutterstockTalkTalk on arrogance. This tall and beaten tail with a fast spanning tip usually means that the puppy is alert and awakened. . He is confident and enthusiastic and bangs his things. Did not you realize that your dog had a wide variety of emotions? This is just one of the unbelievable facts Å º Å º < You've never knew about your dog. But when the tail is high and rigid and other dogs are next, it can be displayed from dominance, says Hartstein. And if the high-beat tail is in Combination with your teeth, your mouth open, the hackles raised and a wrinkled nose, is a suggestion to retreat. Å º "It is safe and respectful with any animal to provide space for Make them comfortable Å º Å º and confident Å º Å º ~ "says Hartstein. 5 / 10tk / ShutterstockÅ º Å º Å º "The tail on the right side, © considered more likely that it is friendly than when a dog shakes the tail on the left side of your body, ~ says Hartstein. The researchers found that the dogs waved their tails to the right when they wanted to approach something, like their owner, but shook their tails to the left when they were found with something they do not have certainly, like a dog Dominant with a dominant dog with a dominant dog with a dominant dog with a dominant dog with a dominant posture dog. 6 / 10TSIK / ShutterstockHere, the tail is being kept on a low level, often covering the notch of the dog, but still does not disappear between the dog's legs. Å º Å º ~Å º "uuma tail that is pulled down shows A dog is not totally comfortable with the situation in which he is in and may be feeling anxious, Nervous or unsafe Å º Å º "says the specialist in Erin Suites estimation, CBCC-KA, CBCC-KA, CPDT KA of Campo Wow. Å º Å º Benefit of tail or wiggle can also be included as a sign of appeasement. Å º Å º "Looking at the tail position of your dog is one of the main ways to find out what your dog really wants from you and how they are feeling. 7 / 10tsik / shutterstockslightly Different from a down tail, this hidden in the version is a tail that is folded between the legs. Å º "This can mean a dog is feeling threatened or fears the situation in which it is in. A crossed tail Legs covers the genital area of a Doga s for protection, one says Askeland. 8 / 10bell Nipon / ShutterstockThere º S Some things to be in consideration with this scenario: Some tails naturally curl or fold toward the head, so that the dog could be chilled out. But if the tail is being kept (or pulled) in the direction of the dog's head, then it could indicate that the dogs are overstimulated, alert high or highly excited. Since your dog can not tell you specifically what emotion they are feeling - just like these 50 secrets, your pet will not tell you - it is important Seek other signs of your attitude. It could run the spectrum that goes from alarm the exaggerated joy, and that is why watching the rest of the body language that the dog is unlocked is important to understand how the dog is feeling, says Suknand. 9 / Tail 10katttiphum / ShutterstockThe IsnÅ º º t Only a beautiful apartment. It is an extension of your dorsal spine with Verbras and a sensitive part of anatomy dogs that is prone to injury. Å º Å º "a tail of cleaning, which can not be shaken, is a problem and can mean a dog has a lesion directly to the tail or other connected areas. A tail can be twisted, broken, displaced, or having nervous damage that makes him soft - says Sukland. Look for immediate veterinary care, because the tail damage can cause a variety of problems, including incontinence, balancing problems and disability to use the tail to communicate. In addition to a clean tail, make sure to watch these 10 other silent signs that your dog did not feel so good. 10 / 10vladimir Konstantinov / ShutterstockWhat on these rods with stumps or tails rolled up? They still imitate the same signs that those with straight or long tails, but may not be able to exaggerate this expression same. A key component Tails that are squats or curly is looking at the base of the tail. Since the tail is attached to the column, any tail movement begins at the base, then if you look at the base of the tail, Å º Å ºYou can see when a thick tail is raised up , in the air or folded down the butt, etc ~ Å º Å º, says Parkland.
