STATEMENT OF PURPOSE FOR MASTER DEGREE

It was cold and raining, and I wondered why there were to children standing outside in the pouring rain, sitting on the sidewalk. I asked my mother what they were doing outside, and my mother pulled the car over and asked the children if they were okay. They looked at her and said they had no place to go. My mom then phoned the police department, which sent two social workers to the site in order to assess the situation. At that moment, I realized the difficulty of the job that social workers encountered, as well as how much a community needed them. This motivation is the reason why I hope to be able to obtain a Master’s Degree in Social Work.

My passion for serving the community as a social worker led me to volunteer for many years as a counselor and mentor at a local battered women’s shelter. While working, I encountered many women who had gone through enormous amounts of pain and suffering, and they were unsure what their futures held. I realized that if it weren’t for programs like the one I worked for, these women would literally have nowhere else to turn, and many had small children with them. This experience made me even more determined to continue as a social worker to be able to ensure the safety and healthy growth of all members of the community.

As a social worker, I know that I will face many more challenges in the future. This Master’s program in Social Work will give me the knowledge that I will need to overcome these challenges with finesse, and allowing me to help bring stability to families. Through the integrated work experiences, I will be able to learn how to handle real-life situations correctly. I know that with this Master’s degree in social work, I will be prepared to handle whatever situations lie ahead, and be able to do my part in helping to keep the community healthy and strong.

MBA PERSONAL STATEMENT

Maybe it’s the fact that I grew up with four siblings that had to share everything, but I always wanted something impactful to call my own. Since I was small, I set my sights on owning my own business. My parents owned a small restaurant on the corner, and we lived right above where we worked. Even as a child, I loved the small business setup, including the ability to set our own hours and being able to make close connections with customers. It was also hard work, combined with many instances of dire situations where changing regulations or a slow month would really tighten the financial situation my family faced. However, the invaluable lessons I learned about running a business will stay with me for a long time.

In keeping with my goal of one day running my own business, I have made it my goal for the past few years to learn as much about the mechanics of business management as possible. During the past two summers, I have interned at Mason Schwab, where I was a project management intern for their marketing and advertising department. During my two summers there, I was responsible for designing a series of small ad campaigns on social media to encourage brand awareness as well as customer engagement. This experience showed me how important positive perceptions of the brand were to perceptions of a product, and I hope to apply these concepts to my future work.

I am applying to this MBA program in business management because I believe that it will heighten my business skills and tie my experience and knowledge together in a way that will enable me to manage my own business in the future. I look forward to taking courses and collaborating on projects with like-minded peers who will become potential partners in the future. This MBA program is an excellent opportunity for me to gain knowledge of the market as well as complex concepts of market dynamics in order to create and run a viable business.

PERSONAL STATEMENT

Spencer E. Pace
Electrical Engineering Major
Timbuktu Academy Scholar
Southern University and A&M College
Baton Rouge, LA 70813

Many of my peers are still in doubt with respect to many career issues. I have been blessed with clarity with respect to my career goals, and thus, I know the exact path I would like to take. I have exceptional critical thinking skills. Furthermore, I have a natural inclination to investigate unknowns. After factoring my mathematical abilities into the equation, my ideal career is self-evident. I am destined to become an engineer.

My entire educational career has been a preparation for what is now only a few years away: my obtaining a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering. In the ninth and tenth grades I participated in the Engineering Magnet Program at Captain Shreve High School. During the summers between 1994 and 1996 I was a counselor and teacher's aide for the Miami University Science/Engineering/Math Program (MU-SEMP). In 1997 I attended the Timbuktu Academy's Summer Science Institute (SSI) at Southern University. SSI is an intense SEM academic program with the goal of encouraging perfection (especially on standardized test) via intense and rigorous practice. The following summer I returned to Summer Bridge Institute (which is designed to ease the transition from high school to college). I am currently a member of the Timbuktu Academy's Undergraduate Research Program.

I have taken courses while over the past few years to prepare for graduate school. For instance, I declared a minor in mathematics to prepare for the mathematics requirements of graduate level engineering education. Therefore, I have taken not only engineering courses such as Electromagnetic Field Theory, Electrical Machinery, Thermodynamics, Control Systems and Communications; but I have also taken math classes including Calculus III, Linear Algebra, Seminar in Mathematics, and Advanced Calculus. The aforementioned math classes are all classes that were not required by my curriculum. Still, I believe that I gained valuable knowledge and understanding of mathematical proofs, which will surely be needed for graduate study.

My dream had been to work as an engineer in the field of telecommunications. This field has interested me since I first became aware of the use of satellites for communication. However, now that I have more knowledge of electrical engineering, my interests are more specific. I am specifically interested in optimizing network design to increase transmission speed. Furthermore, I would like to investigate methods to provide increased Internet speeds without requiring expensive equipment. I am also interested in signal compression and reconstruction before and after transmission, respectively. However, I admit that I lack exposure to many areas of electrical engineering. I am interested in research in any area of electrical engineering because it will afford me the opportunity to access another area in my field. In other words, my options are still open to many possibilities in communications. But no matter what field I choose, I plan to share my knowledge in the classroom on a college level someday. This, of course, requires graduate study.

My life is a series of little goals which, when they are put together, will help me realize my ultimate goal. My ultimate goal is a Ph.D. in Electrical Engineering. My Bachelor of Science degree is only a stepping-stone. I have worked diligently thus far in my academic career because I realize that my undergraduate education is only the foundation for much greater things to come. My goals are high, because I know that I have been prepared for a graduate level education.

Professional School/Scholarship Personal Statements

Definition of genre

The personal statement allows you to give an admissions or scholarship committee a more complete view of your qualifications than an application form, resume, or transcript can provide, by telling a narrative about your experiences, interests, qualifications, and/or expectations for the future. It also allows the committee to evaluate your writing skills. Prompts range from general (e.g. "provide a one-page statement of purpose") to specific (e.g. "describe one project or assignment that contributed significantly to your educational experience").

Questions to ask

- "The two whys": Every personal statement is asking for answers to the two whys—Why are you applying for this particular program and why should the committee choose you? You want to show that you and the program you are applying to are a good fit. Everything in your statement should address these essential questions.
- What is "missing" from your application file? Think from the committee's perspective. What information do they already have about you? If they have a transcript, there is no reason to waste words telling them about your high grades. If they have a list of your awards and activities, there is no need to simply list them here. You want everything in the personal statement to ADD information to your file.
- What experiences have you had that are essential to pursuing this career/field?
- What experiences have you had that make you unique?
- Have you overcome any obstacles in your educational career? Or, have you hit any speedbumps (failed courses, problems with the law, etc.) that you need to explain?

Actions to take

- Read the prompt. Different programs and fields have different expectations for personal statements. Read each prompt carefully, answer its questions specifically, and follow its guidelines accurately. If you apply for several programs, don't just re-use your statement; tailor each essay to the individual prompt, and do research on the program if necessary. Once you have written your statement, consult with an authority in your field to make sure you are meeting style expectations.
- Consider your audience. Are your readers generalists or experts in your field? What are they looking for in an applicant? Will they understand the technical terminology of your particular field?

Personal Statement

"If you want a happy life, tie it to a goal, not to people or things."

--Albert Einstein

Although in my heart, I know that in order to be happy, I have to learn how to please myself before others. It's hard because I value my family and friends' opinions and I know their advice and guidance are benefits for me. Without the help of my family and friends, I wouldn't be able to be where I am today. They influenced me in many different ways to help me discover my interests. Identifying my fascinations in life is the key to my future, among with other skills that I need to build. They gave me the power to have determination and confidence of being who I am. I am here today at Portland State University to open a new door to my future, to accomplish my goal of graduating from here with a Business degree.

Throughout my whole life, I have always been indecisive and a pessimist. Growing up in an environment where my parents had high expectations intimidated me. I didn't have confidence in myself or my future, believing that I will be a failure. My parents sacrificed a lot to give us the opportunity to get a higher education because they never got the chance. Their dream for us to have a better education for a successful career was their motivation for their sacrifices. I don't want to disappoint them and not take advantage of an opportunity that has been given because I know many people who strive for this chance.
